Healthcare organizations must do more to ensure their social media posts are accessible, engaging clients, and informed by lived experiences in order to advance more inclusive engagement.