Holland Bloorview has been an integral part of our lives since Freddie was a baby; he, and our family, have been forever changed by the people we've met there. Freddie, quite literally, would not be where he is today without them.

Holland Bloorview was extremely welcoming. As much as we were excited to be discharged, it was hard to leave because we developed relationships with the staff and the other families. It is an amazing community.

They gave us total support: every day, for three months. We became a family within our room and with the other people on the floor. The staff gave us the medical and physical support that Alex needed, but they, along with everyone else in our make-shift family, gave us vital emotional support. The nursing staff, the doctors, therapists, social workers and even the lifeguards, everyone was there for us no matter what support we needed.

Seeing your child thrive and having the confidence to do things and explore and be social...seeing him approach people in his wheelchair, it's been fantastic for me watching him flourish like that. I honestly feel like Holland Bloorview is his second home.
