Workplace disclosure decision-making for autistic youth and young adults is influenced by several individualized factors, with external factors such as workplace environment, culture, and social determinants being the greatest influencer.