Disability advocacy is making space for people with disabilities in a society that doesn't give that space.

Being able to use art to build awareness around youth with disabilities, share stories which allows them to have a voice.

Make disability artwork that gets exposure from the general public.

– Lexin